Elshafei, a 25-year-old NZ citizen of Syrian origin, claimed she was being held hostage by ISIS, and was unaware she was being filmed. She was kidnapped, at the behest of the terror group, on July 15 2014, from her home in Auckland and held as a sex slave in Mosul. But later she escaped from a refugee camp where she had been moved, and was eventually repatriated on October 12, 2015. In an interview with Australian news channel SBS, Elshafei said she had been held against her will by her captors for 24 days. She said that before she was captured she had never communicated with a terrorist group and had no connection to ISIS. She made the claims on social media, using the name "Jihadi Jane", and also had links to another account, jenaneedude66. Independent panel The FBI searched her home in 2014, and found handwritten notepads containing instructions on
